Greywell Press Acquires Holland & Watts

Peter Venning, Managing Director of Greywell Press is excited to announce the acquisition of Holland and Watts

“This acquisition consolidates two established companies with a reputation for quality, expertise and professionalism” explains Peter.

“Greywell Press is the complete solution in the Print and Graphics Industry, founded on over 30 years’ successful trading and fully validated by external accreditation, offering a wide range of services from traditional high quality print to advanced technology finishing and production.

Holland & Watts, with over 30 years as market leaders in Lamination, Cutting & Creasing, Foil Blocking & Print Finishing, was a natural and complementary business target for Greywell.

Customers and suppliers will already be familiar with both companies, and I am sure this acquisition will not be a surprise to many of them given that we have so much common ground.

I am looking forward to working with Clive Holland and Colin Watts to merge the two businesses into one seamless streamlined supplier under Greywell Press Ltd, and to developing innovative new products and services.

We are confident that this will strengthen and enhance our offering in the market place and provide all customers, now and in the future, with a total reliable solution for all their requirements under one roof.”

Peter will be happy to hear from you with any questions or business enquiries.
